The hospital industry's supply chain has been extremely inefficient," says Craig Smith, president and CEO of healthcare distributor Owens & Minor in Mechanicsville, VA.

Your risk of tooth decay, for example, cutting down on sugary food and drinks, particularly between meals.

Qnexa, developed by the company Vivus, is a combination of two already approved drugs — a stimulant and a weight-loss drug.

Think carefully about how their conclusions may be translated both to policy makers and to a more general audience.

Women are more prone to rosacea than men are, although it's often less severe in women.